

Working Party Research Topic/Title:	The Role of Actuaries in Delegated Underwriting
Practice Area Research Committee Member Shadow:	TBD
Source of idea/"Initiator":	Stephen Robertson-Dunn
Working Party Chair:	Stephen Robertson-Dunn (co-chair) Bharat Raj (co-chair)
What issue is this research topic trying to address:	Our working party will identify common pain points and potential improvements around the work of actuaries in the delegated underwriting space. This includes MGAs, carriers, brokers, consultants and regulators. To do this we will perform interviews, surveys and host discussions with stakeholders, and produce a whitepaper in 2025.
Who will be the audience for this research: (We need to understand who we believe this research will be of interest to – to ensure we have an end consumer for the research)	Actuaries in forecasting, reserving, pricing and non-actuarial roles related to MGAs, underwriters and brokers interested in actuarial work of MGAs, MGA technology providers.
What do we see as being the output/deliverables of this research: Please include specifics on what they will include, and proposed timelines.	GIRO workshop presentation by the group, containing survey results and commentary. We will likely set up a second iteration of the working party in 2026 building on findings from 2025. Possibly write a white paper in 2025, however this may be a 2026 output due to bandwidth constraints.
What are the time scales of this research:	Complete the survey by end of March; gather survey/interview data April – June; July-Sept write up presentation; Oct-Nov buffer. Nov present at GIRO then possibly at LMAG, MGAA other forums.
What previous work has been done in this area recently, within the profession please email libraries@actuaries.org.uk , other professions/academia:	None that we are aware of
Will 3 rd party data be used? If so, a protocol will be developed to support you	Yes, we need to collect potentially sensitive survey and interview data

Legal Issues to Note

Intellectual property issues

As our members and the wider public will appreciate, we want to ensure that the work produced by our working parties remains the intellectual property of the IFoA and not of individual members, their employers or of the working party itself. This means that that work can be used and disseminated by the IFoA to its members, stakeholders and the wider public to advance all matters relevant to actuarial science and promote the work of the wider actuarial profession.

The IFoA is very grateful to the members and their employers for the time, effort and work which is devoted to the working parties for the shared benefit of all members and the public. However, we also appreciate that employers may have their own intellectual property rights in that material – or even license it to/from third parties – and we need to make sure that the working party is not using that material without the employer's, or third party's consent. Members should remember that they need to get the consent of their employer or relevant third party to bring that material to the working party to use.

In recognition of the support provided by individuals and their employers, all material which is permitted to be used will, of course, be credited – noting the sources or contributors by name in the final work product generated by our working parties. Employers can also raise their own profile by allowing staff to sit on working parties and to have their firms acknowledged as supporting contributors in the final products.

The IFoA has some very short consent forms for our members to use if they do wish to use their employer's or a third party's work which will enable the Executive to compile a list of contributors to be referenced in the final work product. Please approach your relevant Practices Manager for more details. Again, the IFoA cannot provide members with advice in relation to intellectual property law and members may need to consult their own in-house lawyers or external legal advisers about this if they are in any doubt as to their obligations or if they have any concerns.

Further guidance

- The UK Intellectual Property Office has some helpful guidance for members on basic intellectual property issues.
- The World Intellectual Property Office's website also provides some helpful guidance on intellectual property matters.

Competition law issues

It is the IFoA's policy to comply with competition law – this applies both to the IFoA itself and to our members. Some working parties will come across competition law issues due to the nature of their research work. Members who are on such working parties must be aware of this issue and be prepared to take steps to avoid any breach of the relevant competition laws.

We have produced an informative video clip which sets out some helpful guidance that working party members should bear in mind regarding competition law. However, we cannot provide advice to members, individual members may need to consult their own in-house lawyers or external legal advisers about this if they are in any doubt as to their obligations or if they have any concerns.

For members who are interested, the IFoA has also produced a short note on competition law issues which may impact our working party members. (See Appendix B, page 15)

Further guidance

The Office of Fair Trading (OFT) investigates competition law issues and has some handy guides which members might find useful.

The OFT also mentions the Competition Pro Bono Scheme which offers some free legal advice to individuals and businesses who believe that their rights under competition law have been infringed or who are concerned that they may be in breach of any relevant laws. Members may also find this useful.

Conflicts of Interest

Consider any conflicts of interest issues which might arise by virtue of a member's membership on the working party and which might breach the Actuaries' Code provisions
